

The case for a VidhiGurukul team cohort

A template you can forward as it is, or edit first. Fees and dates are not yet set; add them here once they are — we never quote a price on a call, so this note will always match the course page.

What it is

A private, live cohort of any of VidhiGurukul's five drafting courses, run for one organisation. Only your colleagues attend; the fact patterns are built around your business's own document types, and every draft is reviewed in green by a real reviewer, the same way an open cohort is.

What it costs

Not yet set. VidhiGurukul publishes fees on the course page once they exist, and does not quote a price on a call.

What you would need to approve

- No law degree is required for anyone on the team.
- A private cohort, not shared with the public course.
- What you would see as the sponsor: cohort-level totals, refreshed weekly, once the cohort has 5 or more learners. Never an individual's drafts, notes or marks — see the specimen sponsor report.
- Each course's lead faculty is named before enrolment opens.

Next step

Send the enquiry form at vidhigurukul.com/for-teams/#enquiry, or reply to whoever forwarded this note. There is no sales call unless you ask for one.